THE MEMPHIS BALE

Sold for Twenty-Five Cents Per Pound-High Honors Paid the Distinguished Visitor in the Way of Free Transportation, with Passenger Ac commodations by Rail, and Free Insurance to Destination.

The "sure-enough first bale," the arrival f which was announced in the APPEAL of ning, was the attraction in cotsunday morning, was the attraction in cot-ton circles yesterday morning. It occupied the corner at the Cotton Exchange, and was viewed by the multitude which passed and repassed from the opening of business until the hour of sale. It is safe to say that ninetenths of those dealing in cotton, including members as well as employes of firms, took a look at the distinguished visitor, many of whom expressed surprise at the excellency of

A FOUR HUNDRED POUNDER. The bale weighs 400 pounds, and its sample lassed strict good middling. In this conction the APPEAL is informed that it was the intention of the producer to surprise the market with two "first bales," and would have done so but for the misfortune that happened in the breaking of the machinery happened in the breaking of the machinery in the ginning and packing of the first one. A sufficient quantity of the staple had been gathered to make two bales of 400 pounds each, but only enough had passed through the gin to make the one bale when the accident happened. Had Mr. Stinson contented himself with one bale, it could have been put on the market in time to have effectually "closed out" the Texas bale, which had been sold only three hours before his bale reached the city.

THE FIRST BALE FROM THE MEMPHIS DI The bale was duly received and registered at the Cotton Exchange as "The First Bale of Cotton from the Memphis District of the Season of 1881-82," and as such was entitled to due consideration by the cotton dealers of Memphis. Its discussion on 'Change developed considerable difference of opinion as to the manner in which the Texas bale was the manner in which the Texas bale was received by the Memphis Cotton Exchange. It was argued by some that while the Exchange refused to recognize it because it hailed from beyond the limits of the Memphis district, yet it would be numbered among the receipts in the statistics of the Exchange for the present season. It was also Exchange for the present season. It was also contended that the trade of Memphis should not thus be prescribed to any particular lim-its; that if the enterprise of the Memphi lealer secured shipments of cotton from soints that had hitherto depended on other sutlets, it was evident that the radius of MADAME DURKE, the percentage, and madame between the companied by her son, arrived in the city from New Orleans yesterday. The lady will endeavor to exhibit her extraordinary gifts in pedestrianism while in the city.

ary heretofore to take no note of "first bales" received from beyond the limits of this dis-trict, at the same time they have been treated with all the courtesy and given all the chances for honors that could otherwise be bestowed. Others urge that the Texas bale was A SECOND-HAND AFFAIR on account of the fact that it had already been sold in Dallas, Texas, getting a price that placed it on record as a "first bale."

The following from a special telegram print-cd in the Galveston News, of August 5th, tells —Not a zephyr zephed yesterday afternoon, and the oldest inhabitant declared it the of that transaction The School Board will be prepared to pay teachers and other debts this afternoon. The Secretary will be at his office from 2 to old at 33\frac{1}{2} cents per pound, and shipped to Another view was taken by some, that the

If they were not counted here they would not be elsewhere, and the aggregate of the whole ason's product in the cotton belt would be essened to that extent. Early yesterday morning the insurance and transportation people were on hand offering their services toward the distinguished bale. The following propositions were exposed on

TIME'S UP. Auctioneer Stoddard was on the ground some half an hour before the thre appointed or the sale, but, contrary to his deportment at the previous sale, had nothing to say, and even when he mounted the bale said not a word, beyond offering the bale to the highest bidder. This action of the auctioneer so paralyzed the audience that it was several minutes before a bid was made. Finally the sale was started and knocked off as follows:

Line, whose agent, Mr. N. F. Carver, made a verbal proposition to the buyer. The bale left Memphis by this line at 10:50 o'clock last night. It was given passenger accommodations on the Louisville and Nashville railway to Louisville. It will be taken thence over the Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis road to Indianapolis; thence over the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis road to Cleveland; thence over the Lake Shore and Michican Southers to Bufales of the Control of falo; thence over the New York Central to Cohoes, New York—its destination—where it is expected to arrive in thirty-eight/hours from the time of its departure from Memers-Other Matters. ORIGIN OF THE BALE.

As was stated in Sunday's APPEAL, this bale was raised by Mr. R. S. Stinson, on the County Workhouse farm on Presidents Island. This fact demonstrates the utility of prison labor in cotton raising, when under skillful management. Mr. Stinson has about 1000 acres of cotton in cultivation on the made complaint about the condition of his crop. The long season of dry weather has, of course, had the effect of an early opening of the bolls, which will enable him to follow up his "first bale" with regular installments from his rapidly maturing cotton fields.

THE CONSIGNEES. Mesers. Hill, Fontaine & Co., to whom the bale was forwarded from Presidents Island, is one of the oldest cotton firms now in ex-istence in Memphis. Their business amounts yearly to about forty-five thousand bales, and their branch house in St. Louis has added and their branch house in St. Louis has added to that about twenty-five thousand, aggregating about seventy thousand bales handled yearly. They aspire to higher figures, and should the present season yield as abundantly as is now promised, they hope to reach an aggregate of one hundred thousand bales. They have ample shed rooms, and are supplied with all modern conveniences for the careful handling of cotton intrusted to them. It is unnecessary to say that their vast trade has been acquired by close attention to business and strict adherence to correcial principles and fair dealing.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held last night. Present, President Rambaut in the chair, and Visitors Boyle, Burke, Linkhauer, Degnan, Walsh, Morrison, DuBose, Lawhorn, Ralston, Jordan, Carey, Shaw and Griswold. Visitor Duffy took his seat later in the evening.

The reading of the minutes was interrupted by objection to on account of apparent A HITCH IN THE MINUTES. irregularity or incorrectness in the record of the report of the committee on teachers, wherein it did not appear that supernumera-ries, Misses Kennedy and Nolan, had been promoted to teacherships. A lengthy discus-sion ensued, resulting in the final adoption of The Superintendent being absent, there was no report from him.

The Chairman of the Auditing Commit-tee submitted his report on salaries of board officials and employes for the month of July, ment of the same for June had never been authorized, and it was ordered that the amount for both months, $297 each, be paid. Sundry bills amounting to $5 20 were al-lowed and ordered paid.

BILLS AUDITED

MONEY TO PAY THE TEACHERS The Chairman of the Finance Committee made report in substance that the commit-tee had secured a loan of $19,500, which was $500 less than was authorized by the Board, with which to pay off standing indebtedness. The parties with whom the loan was negoti-ated are Messrs. F. M. Nelson, Secretary of ated are Messrs. F. M. Nelson, Secretary of the Hernando Insurance company; G. D. Raine, Secretary of the Planters Insurance company; S. P. Read, of the Union and Planters Bank; Thomas Boyle, Owen Dwyer, Louis Hanauer, T. J. Latham, D. T. Porter and W. S. Bruce. The committee had no collections to report. The County Trustee had about $700 school funds in hand at pres-ent, and thought he would be able to collect a sufficient amount by the end of the year to pay off the loan. Receiver Meriwether, it was thought, had some funds in hand from back taxes that might be available.

A resolution by Visitor Boyle that Acting Secretary Bowen be empowered, in the absence of the Secretary, to issue checks to un-paid teachers and other creditors of the School Board was deemed unnecessary, as such power was vested in the Acting Secre-
